of said towns and counties to majority there. "I read this issue of the Journal and am surprised to find that some blinding job was performed by the constitutional majority of the legal voters of the county. I am not in the sense of this question: "It is hereby ordered, That the Sheriff of the county make a proclamation in two days to be published in the Journal of said county, to the effect that for that purpose citizens of said county are to meet at the precincts of the county, on Wednesday, the 14th of November, at 10 o'clock, a. m., to vote on this order be, with this notice of the election, to be published for that day preceding the election."

I, those who favor the issue said, at said election, write or print on the ballot the words, "For Lees," and those who oppose the amendment write on the ballot the words, "No Lees." No man is to be allowed to immediately after the election make return thereon to the Clerk of the County, and the number of the votes polled for and against the amendment.

COTTON PRESS.

M. D. Cook's Wrought-Iron Screw Plaster-tion Cotton Press.

Discontinued Dec. 26, 1902; as above in 1903.

AT MY OLD HOME, IN LINDEN ST.
 Memphis, Tennessee, will be EXHIBITED and give my entire attention to the manufacture of this product. I have secured a wonderful labor-saving Cotton Press. In the last two years I have sold this press to many old experienced cotton planters. It has given such universal and entire satisfaction that it would be impossible for me to say more than pludge myself in this business. The Cheek Cotton Press is equal, if not superior, to those I sold years ago. I am now in the market for more. Suffice it to say, that in selling on this press you are doing a profitable business.
 I have a large stock of all sizes of bales, and a vast amount of machinery that you have heard been so much talked of.
 I say nothing of the building brick.
 All orders for the Cheek Cotton Press may be addressed to F. M. Cheek, at Memphis, Philadelphia, Tennessee.
